

UNIT 6 part 1

School Uniforms

School uniforms are becoming more and more popular in America because uniforms have many benefits (good points). School uniforms unite students. If students can wear their own clothes, everyone will be too different. Also, fashion is distracting. It is easier to study when all students are wearing the same uniform.

Some people are against school uniforms because they believe it makes students give up their individuality. However, even if students can wear their own clothes to school, they aren't really being individualists because they just copy what their friends wear.

Uniforms help you remember your goals and responsibilities. This is true for anyone who wears a uniform, such as police officers, doctors, and students. A student's responsibility is getting an education. Students who wear school uniforms can't forget that they must study hard and learn many things.

Some parents say that school uniforms take away the creativity of students, but this is not true for two reasons. First, remember that students who can wear their own clothes just copy what their friends wear. They can't really be individualists. Second, students have a lot of time to be creative at school. This fact is true even if students have to wear school uniforms. Also, students creativity should be used for studying, not fashion. If students use their creativity for studying, they will have a better life.
